Threat of Civil War Is Eased

SAIGON (AP)—A compromise appeared tonight to lift the threat of civil war within the Vietnamese armed forces at Da Nang. But a Buddhist demand for establishment of a national assembly within three months maintained political tension.

Riot police fired tear gas and broke up a crowd of about 700, including a lot of street urchins, who marched again in Saigon in violation of a curfew.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew back to the capital after day-long talks at the sealed-off Da Nang airbase with Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Chuan intended to avert bloodshed between loyal and dissident troops. Chuan commands the 1st Corps area, the birthplace of current opposition to Ky's military regime.

Chuan told newsmen there of arrangements to ease the crisis. Among other things, he said, he is sending away a battalion he had called in to oppose 1,300 Vietnamese marines Ky flew to the Da Nang base, while government orders will confine the marines to that base.

The call for the government to set up a National Assembly within three months was voiced by Thich Tam Chau, chairman of Saigon's Buddhist Institute, an address before an estimated 15,000 persons in the institute's compound. He appealed to the people to join him in a "night of prayer" for the Vietnamese who have struck against Ky's regime and criticized the U.S. government.

T. F. School Budget Gets Board's OK

Twin Falls School District trustees Monday approved the $2,849,279 budget for the 1966-67 school year, after a public hearing at which no one appeared.

The budget was unchanged from the preliminary budget submitted earlier, with the exception of the addition of the "Head Start" and Herrett's Arts and Science Center planning programs incorporated since the earlier budget was submitted.

The additions included receipt of $18,000 for the Herrett planning grant, and $24,000 for the inclusion of Operation Head Start, and several minor changes — for a total of $64,157. Architect Harold Gerber discussed construction costs of the proposed physical fitness unit and three classrooms for the special education school at Robert Stuart Junior High School. Gerber estimated the addition's cost would be $60,200 for the three classrooms. The commissioners directed Gerber to proceed with both projects.

Asst. Supt. Arthur Kleinkopf recommended two teachers for 1966-67 contracts, and received the board's approval.

Supt. Ernest Regan discussed the need for repair of ceramic tile wainscoting in the "D" wing of the high school. He proposed sealed bids be invited, which was approved.

Portugal Warned On Oil Piping

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Ministry prepared a stiff note today warning Portugal not to permit a Greek tanker to pipe its oil cargo through Portuguese Mozambique to the rebellious Rhodesian government.

Lisbon in effect rejected the demand before it was officially received. A Portuguese Foreign Ministry spokesman reiterated his government's good neighbor policy toward the breakaway regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

SLIPS INTO COMA

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Former Indonesian Premier Sutan Sjahrir has slipped into a coma.

FIRST TRAFFIC FATALITY for 1966 in Jerome County was marked Monday when a State Highway employee died in a two-truck wreck about halfway between Eden and the Jerome Junction. Shown is wreckage of the state truck. J. E. Gifford, 53, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Benedict's Hospital. Three other men were seriously injured. The men in the other truck were from out-of-state. Officers are investigating. (Times-News photo)

Traffic Deaths for Valley Rise by Two

Magic Valley's 1966 traffic death toll mounted Monday as a Jerome man was killed in a two-truck wreck and a Brigham City, Utah, man died of injuries sustained in a Saturday morning collision near Malta. The toll for this year is now only two behind the 1965 traffic toll for the same date. The Jerome man was killed Monday afternoon on Highway 25 when the truck he was a passenger in was struck by a semi-tractor-trailer rig. J. E. Gifford, 53, 231 West Ave. D., Jerome, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Benedict's Hospital. Three other men hospitalized as a result of the Monday afternoon collision were listed in fair to critical condition Tuesday.

Officers said the men with Idaho State Department of

The sixth and seventh traffic deaths of 1966 in Magic Valley occurred April 4 as the result of accidents in Cassia and Jerome Counties.

Highways truck were working on road markers about 1 p.m. when a transport truck from Georgia came over the crest of a hill and struck the rear of the highway truck. Two of the state men were in the semi-truck and another Jerome man, William Gough, 56, was working with Gifford.

Jerome County Sheriff James (Pat) Burns, said there was some doubt if the two Jerome men were inside the state truck or working outside it.

Both were thrown away from the truck by the impact. Gifford hit a fence and probably was hit by the truck as it overturned, the sheriff said.

Both vehicles were headed west about midway between Eden and the Jerome junction. Gough was found lying on the roadway and Burns said "I just can't figure out what happened, because both trucks appeared to be in motion before the accident." Condition of survivors prevented officers from getting full details of the accident Tuesday.

Officers said the driver of the semi-truck, laden with household goods, apparently didn't accurately judge the speed of the truck.

Emergency Procedures Seminar Held

Prevention of fires and accidents in state hospitals and nursing homes was the topic in a series of speeches and films at a state-sponsored seminar at the National Guard Armory Tuesday, according to Harold S. Murphy, Idaho Department of Health.

Murphy said this is the first in a series of seminars scheduled to take place in Idaho during the next two weeks. He said he has been assigned by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to put the programs on in various cities of the state.

Murphy said about 200 persons appear to be a success, similar programs throughout the United States will be enacted, and will be patterned after this pilot seminar.

Murphy said about 200 persons attended the meeting, many of whom worked all night Monday, then drove from as far away as Sun Valley to attend the meeting.

Inquest Set Friday Into Fire Deaths

BURLEY—An inquest will be held at 1 p.m. Friday in the Cassia County Probate Court room into the March 25 fire which claimed the lives of three small children.

The inquest has been pending the completion of an extensive investigation into the fire at the three-bedroom frame rental home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Tanfield by Steve Kennedy, Ogden, special investigator for the Fire Insurance Underwriters Corp.

The couple's three children, Debra Ann, 8; Gerald, 5, and Jimmy, 3, were killed in the fire the evening of March 25. Their parents were both at work at the time.

Report of the special fire investigator will be made at the inquest Friday, according to Dr. Leslie Fillmore, Cassia county coroner.

Trains Operate, Fines Disputed

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's railroads are operating at almost full capacity today as legal arguments over union fines continue. Eight major carriers went back into operation Monday after a costly four-day strike by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. The strike by 8,000 firemen put more than 200,000 workers either out of jobs or on part-time work, piled up freight and closed some industries because of lack of supplies. The striking firemen lost $320,000 a day in wages. The railroads say they lost more than $30 million in revenue.

As the trains ran again, an argument erupted on whether the union owes $27,500 in contempt-of-court fines.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff of U.S. District Court in Washington lifted a threat of $510,000 a day in fines Monday.

But court officials said fines of $27,500 are due and payable because the strike did not end by noon Sunday.

The strike, called by BLF and E President H. E. Gilbert over the issue of eliminating firemen's jobs ended late Sunday night.

An attorney for the union said no fines are due. "No trial has been held to determine whether the brotherhood violated the order after noon Sunday," he said in Washington.

Court officials said that if the fine is not paid in a reasonable time, the bill will be turned over to a U.S. marshal for collection.

There is a possibility of damage suits against the union by some of the carriers.

The Illinois Central said in Chicago Monday night that it will file a damage suit against the BLF and E by the end of the week.

Union Pacific said earlier that it plans to file suit.

The other strike railroads were the Seaboard Air Line, Central of Georgia, Missouri Pacific, Grand Trunk Western, Boston and Maine and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Unless we can get a commitment from them that they're going to fund our projects, we'll stay here," said Frank Smith, leader of the group of 90 that pitched four tents in Lafayette Park Sunday.

A spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said technicians would be sent to Mississippi with the campers to help them rework their applications for federal aid. The Negroes, mostly ex-farmhands and sharecroppers, want to build about 300 low-cost homes and set up job training projects in three Mississippi counties.

The campers came to Washington Thursday to plead their case before Congress and confer with OEO officials.

City Commission Hears Reappraisal Of Twin Falls' Civil Defense Status

Richard S. High, city civil defense director, Monday gave the City Commission a startling reappraisal of local civil defense needs and recommended immediate steps be taken to take advantage of the city's improved position.

High told the city commissioners that the city's position has been greatly improved during the past two years as a result of the Strategic Air Command's decision to remove SAC and missile bases from Mountain Home.

Sightseers Hamper Tornado Cleanup; 10 Persons Killed

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Throngs of sightseers today hampered officials and householders engaged in a massive cleanup job after a series of tornadoes which left a path of destruction across central Florida. The twisters, hopping Monday from Tampa on the Gulf of Mexico to the Cape Kennedy area on the Atlantic Coast, left at least 10 dead, injured more than 300 and did damage estimated by the state office of Civil Defense at $29.4 million.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office in the hard-hit citrus growing county of Polk begged the curious to stay out of the area.

"They're sitting in nice cars watching and blocking roads we need to get equipment through," he said. "We can't get big trucks in."

The sheriff's office said that unless sightseers stop arriving, measures will be taken to clear the stricken sections of all but residents.

Looting, however, was at a minimum with only one arrest reported—a juvenile who was raiding a model airplane store. National Guardsmen and other officers were on duty through the night to protect homes and businesses.

Gov. Haydon Burns said he would ask President Johnson to declare five counties disaster areas, making them eligible for federal relief.

The Red Cross said the hardest hit area was around Gibsonsia, north of Lakeland, where a preliminary survey showed at least 300 homes destroyed or damaged. There was heavy damage all around Lakeland, a city of 41,000, at Auburndale, Davenport, Haines City and Winter Haven.

Striking first at the St. Petersburg-Clearwater area about 8 a.m., the howling winds next hit Tampa, second largest city in the state with 275,000, then moved on to Lakeland in the See TORNADO, pg. 2, col. 1

Official Raps Lack of Curb On Gambling

BURLEY—City Councilman Norman Dayley said Tuesday it "is discouraging to try to carry out one's responsibility with so little cooperation."

He was referring to the latest action resulting from a letter written by seven Cassia County citizens demanding that Cassia county and Burley officials investigate alleged gambling in the area.

At a meeting Monday night with Prosecuting Attorney Richard Smith, the attorney told him, Dayley said, that it was up to the complainers to obtain the information.

"He told us if we could gather the information and give it to him, he would read it over and then decide what to do," Dayley said.

Tuesday, two of the seven persons signing the letter, Frank Ham and Jay Scofield, asked the prosecuting attorney to remove their names from the complaint.

"It certainly is discouraging, linked with the latest action of these two men, to have the attorney want us to get the evidence, rather than use the law enforcement officials provided for that purpose," Dayley said.

The gambling under discussion is a form of poker being played in local cigar stores. Dayley notes the law stipulates that no game is supposed to be played for money or anything that represents value.

The letter, complaining of the situation, was sent by J. P. King, Burley, one of the signers, to Cassia Sheriff Ray Mitchell. Copies were given Mayor Joe Peters and Police Chief George Warrell.

Dayley said he had raised the issue of gambling at several city council meetings but each time he was either ignored or bypassed.

Anti-Pornography Campaign Started

An informally-organized campaign to remove pornographic literature from local news-stands was inaugurated Monday as more than 40 persons gathered at the City Commission meeting to express their objections to sales of allegedly obscene materials. Informal spokesman for the group, Mrs. Bernard L. Kreilkamp, told the commissioners the group is trying to warn local people of the dangers inherent in the sale of objectionable materials, particularly to the young.

She emphasized, however, that the group "is not here to agitate for legislation at the local level. Rather we are hopeful that we can arouse public opinion to the point where we can accomplish our goal by peaceful cooperation between merchant and citizen."

The appeal to clean up local news-stands was based on concern for the rising rate of juvenile delinquency, which the protesters linked with increasing sales of pornographic materials.

Mrs. Kreilkamp urged support of two bills awaiting congressional action — the Daniels Bill and the Zablocki Bill — which would establish an investigatory commission for the smut industry and require brokers to file mailing lists with the post office department.

Local action, she maintained, is best left to organized efforts by local groups.

Vigorous exception was taken by K. E. Otto, owner of the Otto News Agency. Otto, in answer to Mrs. Kreilkamp, said there is no local sale of literature that is not acceptable to the post office department.

Otto said the best place to campaign against pornography is See CAMPAIGN, Pg. 2, Col. 7

ORDERED TO REST

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is ill with flu and has been ordered to take a complete rest for two days, a government official said today.

Employment Has Upward Surge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment surged upward by more than 500,000 in March while the number of jobless showed little change, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced today.

While the jobless rate figured out to 3.8 per cent of the labor force compared with 3.7 in February, officials said this could be attributed to variations that occur in any sampling, rather than an actual change in unemployment.

In the first quarter of 1966, the rate averaged 3.8 per cent, and officials called this a sharp improvement over the 4.3 per cent in the last quarter of 1965.

"Head Start" Summer Kindergarten Program Eyed by T.F. School District

By RICHARD HIGH

The Twin Falls School District is moving to set up an eight-week "Head Start" summer kindergarten program for underprivileged children, it was announced Tuesday by Supt. Ernest Regan.

The district is now completing applications seeking a $23,396 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to finance nine-tenths of the program's cost. The remaining 10 per cent will be supplied by the local district, largely through "in-kind" funds which call for little outright expenditure.

The program is intended to not try to duplicate the first grade curriculum, but is aimed at improving "substandard school training" of many children.

He noted that many children enter first grade classes with an inadequate vocabulary — often of fewer than 50 usable words — and inadequate social and hygienic skills.

He said these handicaps, if not eliminated early, often force the child to be set back several times throughout his short school career, the student eventually becoming a dropout and See HEAD START, pg. 2, col. 4

13-Year-Old Girl Dies of Short Illness

RUPERT — Margaret Faras, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Faras, died at 9 a.m. Monday morning at Holy Cross Hospital where she had been a patient since Friday.

She had been ill with the flu and was admitted to Cassia Memorial Hospital where she went into a coma. She was transferred to the Salt Lake City Hospital Friday.

She was born Dec. 2, 1952, at Jerome, and came to Rupert with her parents in 1963. She was a seventh grade student in Rupert.

She was a member of the Catholic Church.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Bergin Funeral Chapel, Shoshone. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Shoshone, with Rev. Father William F. McQuaid as celebrant.

Final rites will be held in Shoshone Cemetery.

Tornado

The twisters moved south of Orlando and went into the Atlantic Ocean just south of the missile center at Cape Kennedy.

West of Gibsonsia, another 32 houses were destroyed. Twenty-six trailers were splintered at a trailer park south of Polk City. At least four homes were destroyed in an area southwest of Lakeland, and serious damage was inflicted by tornado winds on at least 30 homes in southeast Lakeland.

Miraculously only six persons were killed in and around Lakeland.

Civil Defense Director G. Wes Gunn said a first-day survey showed total property damage in Polk County will exceed $20 million.

"It was really a miracle we didn't have more people killed," said Sherwood D. Smith, administrator of Lakeland General Hospital, largest in the county. He said about 60 persons came in for treatment in the first two hours — between 9 and 11 a.m. Monday — beginning with a busload of students from Lakeland's Southwest Junior High School.

The tornado carved in portions of the school roof, injuring students with flying debris and glass.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY — Fair through Wednesday, but with variable high cloudiness Wednesday. Slowly rising temperatures. Highs today in upper 50s and low 60s, Wednesday mostly in 60s; lows tonight in 20s, except Camas Prairie highs in 30s, lows in 20s. Thursday, little change. Temperatures at 8 a.m.: 35 at Jerome, 41 at Kimberly with 61 percent humidity; 35 at T.F. with 68 per cent humidity; 33 at Rupert, 31 at Fairfield, 40 at Buhl, 31 at Castleford, 33 at Halley, 39 at Gooding; at noon, 60 at T.F. weather bureau with 20 per cent humidity. Barometer: 30.22.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY
The forecast is for generally fair weather with a gradual warming trend for the next two or three days. Soundings early this morning show a general warming in the upper air which should be reflected by temperatures at least five degrees warmer at the ground this afternoon and tonight.

A northwesterly flow at upper levels will carry some high cloudiness across southern Idaho Wednesday, with some increase in west to northerly winds. There may be a few snow flurries in the eastern mountains, but valley areas will remain dry.

Dry surface soils are becoming a problem in many areas. With no significant rain in sight for at least several days, growers will do well to make use of irrigation water as it becomes available, to assure sprouting of planted seeds and continued growth of young plants. In some cases pre-planting irrigation may be desirable for preparation of good seed bed.

Soil temperatures remained about the same, with averages for yesterday and last night, at three inches, Buhl, 51, Castleford, 51, at four inches, Kimberly, 50, Rupert, 55.

Head Start

a unemployable member of society.

Parents will be employed as teacher aids and cooks — with the intention of bringing them into the schools to encourage active participation in the education of their children.

Each child will be given a free medical examination. In addition he will receive a dental check and followup dental care. Glasses will be provided those children who need them.

Lunch will be provided, and a cold snack will be added during the morning.

Transportation will be provided to and from the kindergarten sessions. Psychological and social services will be provided as needed.

Classes will be conducted with one teacher and two aides per 15 pupils. The kindergarten will be dismissed earlier than first grade classes; the children will return home shortly after lunch.

Walter D. Thorne, field representative of the Office of Economic Opportunity for Idaho, who assisted local school officials in drawing up the proposal, reported that 20 Idaho school districts have submitted requests for Head Start programs.

He noted that Minidoka, Cassia, Murtaugh and Hansen School districts are now seeking such programs in Magic Valley.

He noted the program is necessarily handled by the local school districts because there are no "community action groups" formed to carry through such programs in Magic Valley.

He noted the programs could be set up on either a year-round basis — providing local districts with a public-school kindergarten — or on a short-term summer basis, as is being done in Idaho.

Thomas emphasized the program is in no way linked to race. He asserted that the fact that Idaho has few Negroes does not imply a program for low-income persons does not apply.

"If you look at the income of some young farm laborers and migrant laborers, they definitely fall in this category," he said.

Ragland noted the Head Start program is an important move by the district into pre-school preparation. He said, however, the local district now has no plans to provide across-the-board kindergarten facilities.

state truck and struck it as he began to pass.

The impact shoved the bed of the highway truck through the cab. The two occupants of the semi-truck, identified as Dale Johnson, Boaz, Ala., and Charles A. Hassell Jr., Baltimore, Md., were still in the truck when officers arrived.

Witnesses said the driver of the truck was pinned beneath the steering wheel and couldn't be removed until a wrecker arrived and pried the truck away.

Both trucks were tipped on their sides and the trailer from the semi-truck was sprawled across the highway. Officers said it would have to be relieved of its cargo and they were attempting to contact owners.

Gough and Hassell were listed in fair condition Tuesday noon at St. Benedict's Hospital and Johnson was reported in critical condition.

Earlier in the day a Brigham City, Utah, man died from injuries he received in a Saturday morning collision near Malta.

Robert Neile Jeppeson, 30, died shortly after noon Monday at Cassia Memorial Hospital where he was taken after the 3:30 a.m. Saturday crash.

James W. Dunn died of a broken neck after a three-car wreck during Saturday.

The car driven by Jeppeson was struck from the rear during the dust storm. He had slowed as he entered the storm and a car driven by Otis H. Kahn, Flagstaff, Ariz., struck the rear of the Jeppeson vehicle.

The severe storm forced closure of Interstate 80N between Salt Lake interchange and Malta and caused several accidents.

The two Monday deaths raised the Magic Valley 1966 traffic toll to seven. Mr. Gifford's death was the first for Jerome County and Mr. Jeppeson's the third for Cassia County.

James Edward (Ed) Gifford, Jerome, was born July 4, 1912, in Carey and lived for a time in Woodville and Rupert. He came to Jerome in 1926 with his parents.

He farmed for several years and married Mary Alice Thorne July 6, 1935, in Jerome. Their marriage was solemnized Jan. 24, 1945, in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

Mr. Gifford had worked as a maintenance man for the State Highway Department for the Franklin Dale Mulder, 47, Hazelton, died Tuesday in Twin Falls Clinic Hospital of a short illness.

He was born Jan. 27, 1919, on a farm south of Kimberly. He was graduated from Hansen High School in 1937 and married Lorene Poe, Kimberly, in Glendale, Calif., on April 25, 1942.

During World War II he served in the U. S. Army in the Pacific area, where he received the Purple Heart.

He was a member of the Hansen Community Church and the Farm Bureau.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by son James Mulder, Huntsville, Ala.; his father, Peter Mulder, Twin Falls; and two brothers, John Henry Mulder, Challis, and Charles Mulder, Gooding.

Parents Said Capable of Facing Trial

OGDEN (AP) — Two psychiatrists told U.S. District Court today that a Hill Air Force Base man and wife are mentally capable of standing trial for murder.

After summarizing the psychiatric reports, Judge A. Sherman Christensen recessed court to give counsel time to study the lengthy written findings.

The hearing was in the case of A.I.C. Peter Henry McNeely, 34, and his wife, Joan, who are charged with second degree murder in the death of their 10-year-old son, Stephen Michael. The boy was taken to the base hospital Feb. 5, where he was pronounced dead, apparently of a severe beating.

The psychiatric reports were submitted by Dr. Harvey P. Wheelwright of Ogden and Dr. C. H. Hardin Branch of the University of Utah Medical Center. McNeely has been held in Davis County Jail and his wife in Salt Lake County jail. Both are under $30,000 bond.

The couple has six children who were sent to stay with relatives in Dorchester, Mass., after the parents' arrest.

Commissioner John Platt questioned whether the City Commission has "the right to legislate morals." He noted that the best place to undertake anti-pornography efforts is in the home, and on a community level through a citizen's group — rather than through city legislation.

Mrs. Kreilkamp said following the meeting that the anti-pornography unit will sponsor talks to a number of civic groups during the coming weeks.

Tuesday a representative will address both the Exchange Club and the 20th Century Club. The local Rotary and Lions Clubs will be contacted Wednesday and a spokesman will speak to the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

The following week will see addresses to the Knights of Columbus and the Jay-C-Eltes. The group is informally organized with no officers.

According to its members it is not related to any particular church or organization.

A 350-voice children's choir will sing at the opening session Wednesday. They are members of primaries of 42 Salt Lake Valley stakes of the church.

The Primary Association, in charge of religious instruction of children under 12, will hold its annual conference Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. LaVern W. Parnley, general president, will preside. Theme of the Primary Association sessions will be "And they shall also teach their children to pray and walk uprightly before the Lord."

Parts of the general conference will be broadcast coast to coast on 200 radio and television stations, while short wave stations will carry it to Mexico, South America, the Caribbean, Africa and Europe.

The Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir will sing at the Easter Morning session.

Show Off

PROVO, Utah (AP) — "Now there's something you don't see every day, Charlie."

And Charlie had to agree. It isn't often you see a man driving down Main Street, convertible top down in 40 degree weather with a six-foot pink rabbit at his side.

But then again, it was what one could expect from a college student who had just won the gigantic hare in a contest.

"I just had to show it off," said the unidentified Brigham Young University student.

State Forest Unit Names New Official

BOISE (Special) — State Forester Roger L. Guernsey Tuesday announced the appointment of R. L. "Dick" Lingenfelter as forestry information and education officer for the State Forestry Department.

Lingenfelter returns to Idaho after duty tours with the Soil Conservation Service in Connecticut and California. Most recently he has been deputy forester for Los Angeles County, where he was engaged in information and education and restoration work.

Lingenfelter holds a Bachelor of Science degree in botany from the University of Idaho and he obtained his Masters degree from Yale in Conservation.

He is married to the former Jo Ann Hamilton of Buhl. They have five daughters and a son. State Forester Guernsey, in announcing the appointment, said that Idaho is far behind the other great forested states in the forest information and education field.

He made the following statement: "Forests are a very key resource in the United States, and this is particularly true in Idaho. It is highly important that we all become better informed about these Idaho forests. Our younger generations of forest users need to understand the tremendous effect required to keep today's heavily-used forests in a highly productive condition. An informed public which appreciates fully the value of forest conservation will take steps to see the job is done right."

northern part of citrus-rich Polk County.

The twisters moved south of Orlando and went into the Atlantic Ocean just south of the missile center at Cape Kennedy.

West of Gibsonsia, another 32 houses were destroyed. Twenty-six trailers were spinning in a trailer park south of Polk City. At least four homes were destroyed in an area southwest of Lakeland, and serious damage was inflicted by tornado winds on at least 30 homes in south-east Lakeland.

Miraculously only six persons were killed in and around Lakeland.

Civil Defense Director G. Wes Gunn said a first-day survey showed total property damage in Polk County will exceed $20 million.

"It was really a miracle we didn't have more people killed," said Sherwood D. Smith, administrator of Lakeland General Hospital, largest in the county. He said about 60 persons came in for treatment in the first two hours — between 9 and 11 a.m. Monday — beginning with a bus load of students from Lakeland's Southwest Junior High School.

The tornado caved in portions of the school roof, injuring students with flying debris and glass.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY — Fair through Wednesday, but with variable high cloudiness Wednesday. Slowly rising temperatures. Highs today in upper 50s and low 60s. Wednesday mostly in 60s; lows tonight in 20s, except Camas Prairie highs in 50s, lows 10-25. Outlook Thursday, little change. Temperatures at 8 a.m.: 35 at Jerome, 41 at Kimberly with 61 per cent humidity, 38 at T.F. with 68 per cent humidity, 33 at Rupert, 31 at Fairfield, 40 at Buhl, 31 at Castleford, 33 at Halley, 39 at Gooding; at noon, 60 at T.F., weather bureau with 20 per cent humidity. Barometer: 30.22.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY
The forecast is for generally fair weather with a gradual warming trend for the next two or three days. Soundings early this morning show a general warming in the upper air which should be reflected by temperatures at least five degrees warmer at the ground this afternoon and tonight.

A northwesterly flow at upper levels will carry some high cloudiness across southern Idaho Wednesday, with some increase in west to northerly winds. There may be a few snow flurries in the eastern mountains, but valley areas will remain dry.

Dry surface soils are becoming a problem in many areas. With no significant rain in sight for at least several days, growers will have to make use of irrigation water as it becomes available, to assure sprouting of planted seeds and continued growth of young plants. In some cases pre-planting irrigation may be desirable for preparation of good seed bed.

Soil temperatures remained about the same, with averages for yesterday and last night, at three inches, Buhl, 53, Castleford, 51; at four inches, Kimberly, 50, Rupert, 55.

WENDELL — Henry Bailey Lorain, 79, died Tuesday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Joe (Alice) Doramus, southeast of Wendell, of a long illness.

He was born Feb. 10, 1886, at Osco, Kearney County, Neb., and came to Idaho in 1905 with his parents. They homesteaded and under the Carey Act, Oct. 18, 1912, he married Martha (Mattie) A. Stevens at Filer. They moved to the West Point community, southwest of Wendell, in 1947, and Mr. Lorain farmed there until retiring in 1956. They moved to Wendell at that time. He belonged to the United Presbyterian Church, Wendell, and the West OINT Grange.

Survivors include his widow; one son, Charles H. Lorain, Warden, Wash.; five daughters, Mrs. Joe Doramus and Mrs. Carl (Faye) Doramus, both Wendell; Mrs. Harvey (Eileen) Driggs, Pocatello; Mrs. J. D. (Lois) Page, Gustine, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Lester Brown, Hazelton; two brothers, John Lorain, Filer, and Lewis Lorain, Paradise, Calif.; 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the Wendell Methodist Church by Rev. Jack Jennings, Presbyterian pastor. Friends may call at Weaver Mortuary, Wendell, from 1 p.m. Thursday until time of services. Final rites will be held in the Filer IOOF Cemetery. The family suggests contributions to the United Presbyterian Church Memorial fund.

a unemployable member of society.

Parents will be employed as teacher aids and cooks — with the intention of bringing them into the schools to encourage active participation in the education of their children.

Each child will be given a free medical examination. In addition he will receive a dental check and followup dental care. Glasses will be provided those children who need them.

Lunch will be provided, and a cold snack will be added during the morning.

Transportation will be provided to and from the kindergarten sessions. Psychological and social services will be provided as needed.

Classes will be conducted with one teacher and two aides per 15 pupils. The kindergarten will be divided into three first grade classes; the children will return home shortly after lunch.

Walter D. Thomas, field representative of the Office of Economic Opportunity for Idaho, who assisted local school officials in drawing up the proposal, reported that 20 Idaho school districts have submitted requests for Head Start programs.

He noted that Minidoka, Cassia, Murtaugh and Hansen School districts are now seeking such programs in Magic Valley.

He noted the program is necessarily handled by the local school districts because there are no "community action groups" formed to carry through such programs in Magic Valley.

He noted the programs could be set up on either a year-round basis — providing local districts with a public-school kindergarten — or on a short-term summer basis, as is being done in Idaho.

Thomas emphasized the program is in no way linked to race. He asserted that the fact that Idaho has few Negroes does not imply a program for low-income persons does not apply.

"If you look at the income of some of our farm laborers and migrant laborers... they definitely fall in this category," he said.

Ragland noted the Head Start program is an important move by the district into pre-school preparation. He said, however, the local district now has no plans to provide across-the-boards kindergarten facilities.

State Forest Unit Names New Official

BOISE (Special) — State Forester Roger L. Guernsey Tuesday announced the appointment of R. L. "Dick" Lingenfelter as forestry information and education officer for the State Forestry Department.

Lingenfelter returns to Idaho after duty tours with the Soil Conservation Service in Connecticut and California. Most recently he has been deputy forester for Los Angeles County, where he was engaged in information and education and restoration work.

Lingenfelter holds a Bachelor of Science degree in botany from the University of Idaho and he obtained his Masters degree from Yale in Conservation.

He is married to the former Jo Ann Hamilton of Buhl. They have five daughters and a son. State Forester Guernsey, in announcing the appointment, said that Idaho is far behind the other great forested states in the forest information and education field.

He made the following statement: "Forests are a very key resource in the United States, and this is particularly true in Idaho. It is highly important that we all become better informed about these Idaho forests. Our younger generations of forest users need to understand the tremendous effect required to keep today's heavily-used forests in a highly productive condition. An informed public which appreciates fully the value of forest conservation will take steps to see the job is done right."

Tardy Start

Belatedly, Idaho is taking steps to build a program in nuclear science at Idaho State University, Pocatello. Hindsight is always easy, but if the nuclear science program had been attacked with vigor starting about 15 years ago, South Idaho could be the center of the field today. It is believed that lack of such a program is the one big factor that caused Idaho to lose out in its bid for a $75-million atom-smasher. All the other factors, including ample federal land, electricity and sufficient water, were present.

The step being taken now by Idaho starts with appointment of Dr. Albert Wilson of the University of Oklahoma as associate professor of nuclear science and engineering at ISU. Dr. Wilson will assume his new post next September. He will be charged with organizing a program for the newly-established graduate course in nuclear science. Dr. Wilson will be the first instructor in the new program.

Even though ISU is getting in the field somewhat belatedly, there's reason to believe the program will grow by leaps and bounds. The Atomic Energy Commission's Nuclear Reactor Station isn't too far from the university and the AEC maintains a large staff and one of the top libraries on nuclear science at Idaho Falls. The presence of these government facilities and growth of the new ISU program could be attractive to further development.

Perhaps initially residents of South Idaho might be inclined to think the ISU course is designed to teach young people how to make nuclear weapons. That's a laugh, of course, although weaponry was the principal development in the nuclear field from the first. It was a matter of necessity.

Now, with nuclear weapons improved and stockpiled in numbers calculated to cope with any military situation, nuclear science is concerned primarily with development of this relatively new source of energy for peacetime purposes.

Perhaps a brief comparison with electricity might serve to give an indication of what could happen in nuclear science. Electricity has been known for many years, as witness such well-known tales as the experiments of Benjamin Franklin. However, U.S. use of electricity has increased tenfold in the last 30 years. And this country has roughly one-third of the world's total electric generating capacity. Now consider that the first atomic chain reaction was achieved on Dec. 2, 1942, with the first atomic bomb exploded about two and one-half years later. More than 20 years after that first atomic explosion, the world has barely started to adapt nuclear energy to peacetime uses.

If the development of nuclear power parallels development of electrical power, practically the entire development lies in the future. Hence, although the start at Idaho State University is somewhat tardy, possibilities for growth and expansion are virtually beyond comprehension.

POOR JUDGMENT

Perhaps the biggest problem facing sportsmen is the matter of those users of firearms who have no judgment or use exceedingly poor judgment at best. Any person who fires a gun without knowing what happens to the bullets or pellets must be considered dangerous. The problem becomes more serious in direct proportion of the growth of population. There comes a time when society cannot take any more chance on persons with poor judgment.

That's the reason behind such regulations as an attempt to establish districts in Ada County where carrying or shooting rifles would be illegal. The plan has stirred up all sorts of protests, but it must be considered logical, particularly because the proposal applies only to rifles. Briefly, the ruling would bar use of rifles in those zones in which population density totals 1,500 persons per square mile. It's just as sensible as forbidding persons to shoot firearms inside a city. Actually, a reasonable, sensible person wouldn't use a rifle in such a densely populated area in the first place.

If everyone who had access to firearms exercised excellent judgment and restraint at all times, no regulations of any sort would be necessary. Unfortunately, not everyone is equipped with that sort of judgment or restraint. Lack of judgment isn't restricted to young people, either. In the absence of means to weed out the poor risks, regulations have to apply to everyone. This sort of group regulation isn't restricted to the use of firearms, either. Traffic rules also are designed to apply to everyone, but most particularly to those who lack judgment. Unfortunately, everyone has to pay the penalty for those who cannot be trusted to take whatever precautions are indicated.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

by ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—Dr. Walter Judd's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Viet Nam war and the bugaboo of Red China—which made refreshing horse sense after the howling of Sen. Bill Fulbright's tame appeasers—was the official administration line.
That is to say, Judd conferred with both President Johnson and Secretary of State Rusk and reached an agreement in principle with them on his testimony. Judd, a former congressman from Minnesota and a longtime Far East expert, went much further than either Johnson or Rusk want to go publicly—especially in urging stepped up bombing of North Viet Nam's war industry—but generally he represented administration thinking.

NO FREE VICTORY FOR REDS—In particular, Judd voiced sentiments often expressed privately by the President in opposing admission of Communist China to the United Nations. It has long been Johnson's opinion, as expressed in Judd's testimony, that it would be "short-sighted and foolish to give such a smashing and wholly unnecessary victory to Red China when it is in such trouble world-wide." At this point, Johnson is not inclined to do Peking any favors which might enhance its international status.
In effect, both Judd and Johnson want to let Peking stew for a while in its own juice while the U.S. pursues its ends in Viet Nam. As Judd put it, Washington could be idiotic to accept Red China into the U.N. when its representatives "are being exposed and expelled from countries in Africa, Latin America and Asia, countries that followed the very policies toward Red China" that the peace-at-any-price mob is now trying to sell to the President. Parenthetically, Johnson does not preclude doing business with Peking, but he will not risk doing it on Peking's terms.

FEAR NO CHINESE ATTACK—Although Johnson remains properly cautious about causing a direct confrontation with Peking in Viet Nam, there was much of his thinking in Judd's rejection of the premise that any escalation of the war would bring on Chinese intervention. Like Judd, the President sees Red China as more vulnerable than the Fulbright group believes.

There is, as Judd pointed out, the probability that in intervening Peking would be inviting and justifying destruction of her nuclear installations, a gamble the stakes in Viet Nam hardly make worthwhile. Johnson also agrees with Judd that any full-scale Chinese adventure in Southeast Asia would be a serious handicap in Peking's struggle with the Soviet Union for control of world Communism. Peking no more wants to get involved in a long land war in Asia than does Washington, for the simple reason that it couldn't pay the price.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK READY—And, of course, there is always Chiang Kai-shek's 500,000-man army on Formosa. No responsible administration official mentions Chiang publicly, but if Red China were to intervene in Viet Nam, the U.S. no longer would be compelled to hold Chiang in check.

Judd expressed Johnson's own impatience when he complained that too many officials in Washington "seem almost paralyzed by two words—confrontation and escalation." Again like Judd, Johnson does not want to encourage Peking to believe that the U.S. will surrender rather than face the risk of nuclear war.

Johnson perhaps would not put it as strongly as Judd, who warned that Free Asia would crumble if Peking were admitted to the U.N., since this would be a signal that "the Communists have won." But it is no secret that the President feels admission of Red China to the peace organization would complicate U.S. relations with other Asian countries threatened by Peking's policy of "liberation" by military force.

Views of Others

PRINCIPLE VS. PRINCIPAL
The present policy of the library board requiring teen-agers to have a permission slip signed by a school principal to use the library shouldn't stop any student from studying in the evening. A boy or girl who wishes to use the library may easily get the principal's signature on a note.

The rule was instigated to bar troublemakers from the library, but the rub comes because it is unconstitutional. Not only does it keep out noisy and bothersome students, but all others too, unless they get the aforementioned permission.

Accordingly, many who never get near the public library more than a couple of times a year are loudly protesting their right to do so. We think without the publicity attending the issue, conditions perhaps would be normal at the library.

Thus we suggest the library board rescind its ban, and initiate measures to be sure all noisy and troublesome persons (including adults) are escorted from the building. The police department should be willing to cooperate to the fullest, with a patrol car standing by. We doubt that would be necessary for long.

Parents have a responsibility, too, in seeing that their children do not use the library as a social center.

Another valuable suggestion has come from the librarians at the city's schools. They point out that school libraries, although somewhat deficient in standards, nonetheless have developed rapidly in recent years and would be helpful to students if they were open in the evenings.

It is important to encourage young persons to use libraries. At the same time, they must be instructed as to their behavioral responsibilities. We repeat: Open the library, but make its purpose abundantly clear. —Idaho State Journal

SELF-DISCIPLINE IN TRAFFIC
Richard A. Rice, a former research director for a transcontinental bus company and an expert in the mass transit field, cites "self-discipline" as a surer approach to the solution of urban traffic problems than talk of mono-rails and super-machines. Mr. Rice said at Pittsburgh the other day that instead of relying on miracle gadgets cities must exercise self-discipline and permit only a limited number of automobiles on their streets.

There is unquestionable merit in what Mr. Rice says, but he is also aware of the fact that people are not yet prepared to exercise the amount of municipal self-discipline needed. So no relief from that quarter is in sight immediately. Yet it would seem relatively simple to speed mass transit by limiting the number of private vehicles on certain streets at certain times of the day—if the public would stand for it. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch

The Doctor Says
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

There has been some confusion over a statement I made regarding cold cream. For dry skin I recommended cold cream with a lanolin base for cleansing. For this purpose the so-called vanishing creams with a greasiness base should be avoided.

Q—My doctor says I have pemphigus erythematosus vulgaris. What causes this? Can it be cured?

A—Pemphigus is a disease in which large blisters or blisters occur suddenly. The cause is unknown. There are several forms of the disease but none exactly as you have stated. Pemphigus vulgaris is the commonest form and was always fatal before the discovery of cortisone. This disease is characterized by severe pain and prostration. It should always be treated in a hospital, because scrupulous care is required to prevent the blisters from becoming infected and because transfusions are sometimes needed. When treatment with cortisone is started early in the course of the disease a cure can usually be expected.

Pemphigus erythematosus is a rare form of the disease that is characterized by remissions and recurrences but is less severe than pemphigus vulgaris.

Q—Is there any cure for hidradenitis suppurativa? I have had it almost 10 years. My doctor tried tetracycline but I'm allergic to it.

A—This is a deep-seated inflammation of the sweat glands, usually in the armpits. Some authorities believe it is caused by cutting the skin when shaving the armpits thereby allowing infection with the ever-present staphylococci. Greasy ointments of all kinds should be avoided in this region.

There are two forms of the disease. One resembles acne and the other boils. For the acute stage hot applications should be applied. The area should be cleaned with a soap that contains hexachlorophene. A lotion with phenol or bichloride of mercury helps to control the infection. The treatment of choice is tetracycline but, since you are allergic to this drug, some other antibiotic should be used.

For the chronic stage X-ray treatments may be helpful. When there is much tissue destruction plastic surgery is required.

Q—While a patient in the hospital I heard people talking about spinal block. What is this?

A—This term usually refers to an obstruction of the flow of spinal fluid in the spinal canal. It may be caused by an infection in the spinal cord or a tumor of the cord or a vertebra. Less frequently, the term "spinal block" refers to a type of spinal anesthesia.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The gruesome thing about the demonstrators efforts in South Viet Nam to overthrow their government in the midst of war is not only what happens now but what may lie ahead.

The Associated Press reported that in the demonstrations around the country against the military government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky much less than 1 per cent of the population has been directly involved.

Most of the other South Vietnamese are indifferent to politics and just want to stay alive. But a hard core of experienced politicians and religious figures, Buddhists, are behind the agitation.

In short, most of the Vietnamese have little knowledge or experience in democratic government. And the agitators don't seem to understand what stability of government in the midst of war means.

They overturned the civilian rule of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a dictator. Military officers who seized power later were thrown out. Now the agitators are after Ky. They want a civilian government.

But it could hardly be a truly representative government since most of the countryside is in the hands of the Viet Cong. And President Johnson had shown confidence in Ky by meeting with him in Honolulu earlier this year.

In the midst of it all there is a growing undertone of anti-Americanism in a land which Americans are dying to defend. If enough chaos develops, it is not inconceivable that Americans would be asked to leave.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—He sits hunched over his desk, stacks of books at either end of his glasses slipping down the bridge of his nose. Sen. J. William Fulbright, looking—rather like a bemused college professor, is the least likely candidate one could imagine for embattled leader of the opposition on the highly emotional issue of Viet Nam.

Whatever the public image, and from time to time Fulbright has managed to arouse the ire of almost every organized group in the country, this is not how the senator sees himself. He believes in a sober examination of the realities, which is what, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he considers the goal of the hearings on Viet Nam and China.

The hearings were widely reported but Fulbright, who can never be charged with being a cheery optimist, shake his head sadly as he says that he cannot see that they had much effect on public opinion. In this he finds himself in agreement with President Johnson who noted that the stock of his Viet Nam critics seeking a way out of the war had not risen in opinion polls. In the course of the same talk the President referred to Fulbright as a scholar, a more complimentary term than other presidents have used.

For the crisis of the Viet Nam war and for the senator who has been the most consistent critic of administration policy this is a kind of halfway point. The China hearings are in suspension if not concluded as the

of them, have shown so much indifference to government, and the hard-core agitators have shown such distaste for one government after another, it's hard to see how any government can last long.

What, then, does the United States do? Keep forces in South Viet Nam after the war to be sure it doesn't collapse into anarchy, making it easy pickings for the Communists?

Almost certainly it will have to keep some forces there and help the South Vietnamese economically and in other ways.

But by then, if they feel the Americans are no longer necessary to fight the Viet Cong, the South Vietnamese, judging from some of the present Anti-American mood, may want the Americans out.

These people—held in bondage or subservience by the Chinese and French through most of their history—have had almost no preparation for running themselves on an even keel.

As of now, trying to look into the future, it seems anything could happen in South Viet Nam, during or after the war. It's not a pleasant thought. But it's one that can't be ignored.

When Karl Meyer in 1963 brought out an impressive collection of Fulbright's speeches and statements, with the subtitle "The Public Positions of a Private Thinker," the consistency of his stand in his more than 20 years in Congress was clear. In his memorandum on the Bay of Pigs invasion he raised the only major voice against that hapless Cuban misadventure. Later in 1961 in a speech on Southeast Asia he said:

"What these voices (opposing any political settlement in Laos) are saying is that the United States is the strongest country in the world and should not hesitate to commit its strength to the active defense of its policies anywhere outside the Communist Empire. This is dangerous doctrine; nothing would please Communist leaders more than to draw the United States into costly commitments of its resources in peripheral struggles in which the principal Communist powers are not themselves involved."

It is hard to put a charge of ambition against Fulbright. Liberals invariably fault him for failing to take a stand on civil rights, which is one reason he could never be Secretary of State. Yet as a private thinker he promises to go on taking public positions.

Itch. Nope. He adopted this pose on the advice of an actor friend, Francois-Joseph Talma, who told the emperor this would rid him of his undignified habit of gesturing nervously in public.

North. East likes clubs since he has four of them but he holds the four top hearts and likes that suit much better. Therefore he signals displeasure with clubs by dropping the deuce.

South wins with the ace and goes after the spades. West notes that the king of clubs is a sure entry for the suit but he still holds back his ace until the third lead so as to give his partner a chance to signal in hearts or diamonds.

East would like to signal by dropping the ace of hearts but he can't afford to. He needs four heart tricks to set the three no-trump contract.

Therefore, East does just as well. He drops the deuce of diamonds. Now, if West is on his toes he will have noted that his partner has asked him not to lead diamonds or clubs. The only suit left is hearts, and West leads it.

Many Shapes of Loneliness

By MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
Star of Stage and Screen

In 1963 my husband John Farrow died. We had been married 28 years and were the parents of seven children. I was very fortunate, I believe, in having a career which I could resume, an acting career. Aside from financial necessity and the fact that I do enjoy acting, it was good to be busy. That's the advice everyone gives a new widow — "stay busy." In this case, "everyone" is right. It is wise to be very busy. But a full schedule does not stop you from thinking back and it does not prevent that underlying sense of sadness from gnawing at you.

I have been lonely many times during my lifetime — who has not been? — but it is only in the last several years that I have been able to determine the many shapes of "loneliness." There are a number of them.

There was The War. John was away in the Navy. Everyone was doing something helpful. I was volunteering at St. John's Hospital in Los Angeles and being mother and temporary father to the children.

Restless

The days were full and often frantic, but after 9 o'clock in the evening, with the children tucked into bed and the house silent, I'd face the night hours and shiver.

It is true that children, with their lives to be fashioned and their problems to be solved, can absorb you. Children can fill a home to the tiptop, but John's absence could not be camouflaged by activity.

Night after night I'd find myself restlessly roaming the house. Is this, I wondered, what being a widow is like? I didn't know until later that true widowhood is a loneliness of a different texture.

In wartime, one lives closer to God. And for a while I thought that my restlessness would become easier through prayer. Instead, it seemed to grow more acute.

"If There's a Reason"

Perhaps prayers for myself are wrong, I thought, though I knew at heart that any communion with God must be in some way beneficial. Yet, I also knew that the answer to my problem would come eventually from a realization within myself. It did, in an oblique way.

A friend of mine's baby was stillborn. Later, she and I talked about the tragedy and its meaning and, at one point, she said to me, "If I had known ahead of time that my baby were to be born dead, I believe the physical pain of birth would have been unendurable. It's odd about pain, isn't it? If there's a good reason for it, you endure it — sometimes gladly."

The curious thing was that I took my friend's thought about pain and applied it to my own problem.

A philosopher once wrote, "He who has a why to live for can bear almost any how." Aware that I did indeed have a "why" — John's return — I now knew that I could and would endure the "how" — loneliness.

I was able to put my loneliness in perspective when I was able to say, "I will endure it. John will come home." And he did.

There came a time, though, when I no longer had that perspective. The ache I felt was different from the previous aches. It was deeper, emptier. My husband was dead; the "why" gone. This was the texture of true widowhood — emptiness.

The children were older now and, for the most part, busy with their own projects and careers from which I was excluded. That was as it should have been.

It seemed wrong to be lonely. My career went well. I was starred in a Broadway play "Never Too Late," and it was a great hit.

Shattering Contrast

I went out often. I knew that the life of an actress, a celebrity-type, had an advantage over the widow who lived within a small circle in a quiet town.

Yes, of course it had, except that when I returned home, the contrast was shattering.

That is when I began to re-evaluate loneliness, to review its previous forms, to bring logic and heart and faith to bear. I drew some conclusions which I hold now. Perhaps those conclusions are not the ones that people suffering from loneliness want to hear, but I believe they are basic and true.

Most of us, I fear, do not wish to face the fact that human beings are lonely creatures. We have been lonely always; we will be always.

I am not being flippant when I say that the one area in which we are not alone is our loneliness. Everywhere I go I find people who are lonely and for whom there seems to be no relief or answer.

A Search for God

Certainly as a woman I recognize that there is a restlessness in me that is not satisfied by human contact or by a full schedule.

It has been said that loneliness is a searching for God. Centuries ago, St. Augustine wrote, "Thou hast made us for Thyself, and restless are our hearts until they rest in Thee."

Yes, we are born searching and restless and only we can admit the hard fact that we are lonely and will remain so is there hope for some tranquility and receptivity to life. It is then that we can begin to appreciate the world that God created for us to accept and use, not deny.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—There's a logical reason Gary Sachs said, why a telephone booth has been installed in the kitchen of his home.

"My wife talks on the phone a lot, sometimes all day," Sachs explained.

The Sachs have three children, from 16 months to 4 years. The youngsters' play, chatter and racket made phone conversation difficult. "Every time the phone rang I had to run into the closet," Mrs. Sachs said.

The used booth, complete with light and a fan that turn on automatically when the folding door is closed, was purchased for $10 and given to Mrs. Sachs by a sympathetic friend, Lenora Lempike.

Republicans Having Trouble In Campaign on Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are running into difficulties in their campaign to take into account "the fact that combat threatened inflation by in coming even close to halting budget cuts rather than a tax, making the budget the President made cuts in funds he knew Congress was likely to restore."

The chief problem, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview, is that President Johnson "grossly underestimated expenditures" in his $112.8-billion budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. White House spokesmen have "He talks about a $1.8-billion deficit," Dirksen said. "That's Congress reaction may be to completely phony. The deficit is vote $1 billion or $2 billion more likely to be somewhere between for spending than he pro-$5 billion and $6 billion. We just grumbled."

The President has threatened to withhold funds for what he Nam is going to be considerably higher than it was estimated when the budget was submitted.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in January, "There told Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II at a Senate Education subcommittee hearing Monday that any such move to spending at $60.5 billion but did cut back education outlays not break the total down to spell would be illadvised."

out the Viet Nam costs. "Let the President do that if best estimate is around $10.5 he wants to and let the American people answer him," Morse said.

Howe said he hadn't been told the President's intentions.

Meanwhile, House Republicans denounced a bill which would give Johnson standby controls over installment buying to counter inflationary pressures.

Republican members of the House Banking Committee called the proposed legislation a possible forerunner to wage-price controls. They said they want cuts in spending, rather than controls or a tax boost, to fight inflation.

IWO JIMA

The flag six men raised atop Mt. Suribachi on the tiny Pacific island of Iwo Jima cost 5,000 American lives and 20,000 Japanese. It was a small victory in a large war. Yet on that island men met responsibility for the lives and for the way of life of their countrymen back home. This responsibility gave them the courage to fight the battle of Iwo Jima. "Uncommon valor was a common virtue."

Liberation Day Noted by Hungarians

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungarians marked their 21st Liberation Day with a relaxed celebration Monday showing how the atmosphere has changed since Soviet tanks crushed the anti-Soviet uprising in 1956.

Ten thousand well-dressed members of the Communist Youth Union assembled in Heroes' Square and took a loyalty oath. Teen-age girls even had seamless nylons and smart hairdos.

Before a national television audience and perhaps 50,000 spectators, the youths pledged "to be true to proletarian-internationalist ideas (and) if necessary to defend with arms the fatherland, the Hungarian People's Republic."

The military parade held every April 4 for nearly two decades was omitted for the first time. An official said that for economy reasons it will be staged only every five years in the future. Liberation Day celebrates the expulsion of German troops from Hungarian soil in 1945.

Bands played and a pale spring sun warmed the square, scene of climactic events in nearly a century of Hungarian history. Spectators munched sausages and soft drinks. A handful of the 60,000 Soviet troops estimated to be stationed in Hungary wandered about.

There was no evidence that anybody had "bedded down there," according to deputies.

The body was found by picnickers.

Wood River Jaycees Are Seated at Joint Meeting

HAILEY — Joint installation of officers of Wood River Jaycees and Jayettes highlighted a dinner meeting held Saturday evening at the Upper Big Wood River Grange Hall.

Robert Smith, district vice president, was installing officer for the Jaycees. Installed were Richard Davis, Ketchum, president; Carl Hoskins, Hailey, first vice president; Vern Thomas, Ketchum, second vice president; Dan Rounsavell, Hailey, secretary; Kenneth Worthington, Gannett, treasurer; Rodney Brasse, Hailey, internal director, and Wayne Winter, Hailey, junior past president and external director.

Winter welcomed the 60 members and their guests. Harold Ruby was master of ceremonies.

Smith outlined projects accomplished by the Jaycees during the term of the retiring officers.

Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls, Democratic candidate for governor, was introduced by Ruby.

The speaker commended the Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes on their accomplishments and urged them to continue to build for prosperity.

He deplored the fact that there are no more "old time political rallies" such as his father, Lloyd Walker, and George Allen, Hailey mayor, knew.

Both Walker and Allen, who were present, can remember when the late Sen. Borah used to come to Bellevue every year for the Labor Day celebration, and after a rousing political speech spend the rest of the day visiting.

"In those days you got to meet a man and talk with him and form your own convictions," Walker said, "whereas now about all the majority of the people ever see of a candidate is for the flash of a few minutes on a television screen. It's pretty hard to know the real man that way."

GETS CERTIFICATE
POCATELLO (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie was presented a certificate of appreciation by Salvation Army Maj. Ed Schriener of Boise Monday night. Smylie gave the main address to about 50 persons who gathered to honor the 100th anniversary of the organization.

"The war on poverty would be much more effective if private instrumentalities like the Salvation Army were included in its operation," Smylie said. "I can't think of any other organization in the field that gets so much mileage from a dollar."

BODY FOUND
KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — The body of an elderly man was found in an abandoned school house in a rural district on the North Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River late Sunday.

Sheriff's officers said papers on the body identified it as that of William P. Carney, but details of how it came to be in the school house were lacking.

There was no evidence that anybody had "bedded down there," according to deputies.

They said the man, in his 70s, was dressed in several coats and had on three pairs of trousers.

A coroner said the man could have been dead as long as two weeks, and that he apparently died of natural causes, possibly exposure.

The body was found by picnickers.

BIDS SOUGHT
BOISE (AP) — New bids for a deep well turbine pump for the new Idaho penitentiary site will be sought by the Department of Public Works.

The department said two bids opened Monday were rejected because all requirements in bid procedure had not been met.

ASSIGNMENTS OK'd
BOISE (AP) — Assignment of two additional VISTA volunteers to the Nez-Perce Indian reservation near Lapwai was approved Monday by Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

VISTA — a domestic version of the Peace Corps — already has two volunteers at the reservation establishing a program of supplementary education.

The Nez Perce Tribal Council has requested two more to establish a similar program at another community on the reservation, Smylie said.

The governor said VISTA volunteers also have been assigned to the Kootenai Indian Tribe near Bonners Ferry and the Coeur d'Alene Tribe near Plummer.

SLAMS SMYLIE
BOISE (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus said Monday Gov. Robert E. Smylie's proposal for state merit scholarships is nearly identical to a proposal Andrus made in February.

"It's interesting to see," said Andrus, a state senator from Orofino, "that the governor is so short of a positive program of his own he must pilfer from his rivals."

Unauthoritative List of Television Highlights Given for Next Season

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — This is the time when the television networks decide on the new program lineup for the coming season. And as regular readers know, we usually look into this matter and report on what the home screen will be offering next autumn.

However, after making several calls to our sources in Hollywood, we find that the new television schedules are still far from firm.

The delay is quite understandable, of course. Turning out a new array of entertainment is a very difficult business, requiring a great expenditure of imagination and creativity.

But the fact remains that we cannot at this time give an authoritative report on the new programs.

Consequently, the following list of television highlights for next season is completely unauthoritative — but not completely unreasonable.

News, Public Affairs
Great Issues — An in-depth study of major U.S. highways during the rush hour.

Open Head — Patients from representative mental institutions in the NATO countries analyze world tensions.

Where Are They Now? — A festival of the nation's best-loved television commercials and searching interviews with the men and women who created them.

Celeste Holm Has Various Expressions

A reviewer once said that watching Celeste Holm's face is like watching a parade, a sentiment that many others have echoed.

The blonde star, who guests in "Face of Fear" episode of 20th Century-Fox Television's "The Long Hot Summer" (Wed. April 20, ABC-TV), has lived or worked or visited such diverse places in the United States as Brooklyn, San Francisco and Orwigsburg, Pa. — as well as England, France, Holland, Sweden and Norway — and along the way has picked up a vast variety of facial expressions from school teachers, shopgirls, matrons, teenagers and numerous other feminine types.

She can satirize these expressions swiftly and smoothly or play them straight with heart-tugging effect that caused another critic to write that "Celeste Holm has the biggest vocabulary of contemporary female facial expressions of anybody in America."

In the "Summer" segment, Mill Holm draws on her limitless reservoir in her portrayal of a woman who apparently bears the loss of her husband with controlled grief but whose mood undergoes a lightning change in the conclusion of the drama.

In her early years as an actress, Celeste was such a superlative must-comedienne both on Broadway and in motion pictures that her friends were fearful she would be typed in screen musicals. What they overlooked was that she had played practically everything from Shakespeare to Saroyan before she even essayed musical comedy. It all proved a fact which is equally true today. The Academy Award winner is such a good actress that she can identify herself with a part so completely that she is unrecognizable as herself.

Tuesday, April 5, 1966

Audience Participation
Teen-age Jury — A panel of average youngsters selected by computer consider their parents, peers, society in a courtroom atmosphere. Actual prosecutions, defenses, verdicts, executions.

Give-Up? — Famous drop-outs of leading colleges and universities compete for valuable prizes.

Secretary for a Day — Typical housewives try to beat the clock in fun games. Winner gets to make U.S. foreign policy for 24 hours.

Situation Comedy
Bemused — A beautiful witch turns into a fire hydrant by mistake and then finds that she has lost her magical powers.

My Achin' Back — The rollicking, hilarious adventures of a bunch of GIs in the Bataan Death March.

Pen Name 009 — The inmates of a federal prison take it on themselves to organize an international espionage ring to help the U.S. government fight communism.

Adventure and Drama
Hopalong Casadesus — A two-fisted, two-gun piano teacher moves into Dodge City.

Candy's Cane — A gentle widower, once wrongly tried for murder, devotes her life to correcting the ills of society and helping the downtrodden. Starring Zsa Zsa Gabor.

The Girl Next Door — A typical, pretty young teen-age spy on her way to the high school prom suddenly finds herself in Peking, the victim of amnesia.

Science and Education
Rin Fin Fin — The heart-warming, continuing story of a little boy and his pet shark.

Hoot 'n' Annie — An American Indian, working his way through medical school as a newspaper reporter, falls asleep in class and dreams he is on board a raft with a girl floating down the alimentary canal.

I Move to Acquit . . . — A series of nonfiction dramas revealing the human side of famous people such as Adolf Hitler and Attila the Hun. Truman Capote narrates.

Great NEWS! APRIL 18th IS THE DAY

And that needs a word of explanation!

You'll remember that since late in January Cable Vision has had to comply with an order issued by the Federal Communications Commission. This order required non-duplication of programs appearing on the local TV station.

We didn't like it . . . and neither did you. But it was the ruling and we had no choice. Then in February the FCC changed their initial order. Instead of protecting the local TV station for 30 days, FCC reduced this time to ONE day.

And April 18th is the day this amended ruling goes into effect. In other words, you will be able to see the programs you enjoyed seeing with practically no deletion.

With this new ruling in effect, Cable Vision schedules will return to normal and the best of national network viewing will be yours with Cable - TV.

Best Bets for Movies

7:00 Thursday: 2B, 5 — "The Best of Enemies," Italian, 1961. World War II is the setting for this comedy. A peace-loving Italian captures a British Army officer during the 1941 African Campaign. David Niven is one of the actors and Guy Hamilton, of "Goldfinger" directing fame, directs the movie.

10:55 p.m. Friday: 2B — "Teenage Rebel," 1956. This film adaptation of the Broadway show, "Roomful of Roses," deals with a woman who tries to win back her daughters love. Ginger Rogers, Michael Rennie and Betty Lou Keim star in this drama.

Special Sports Events

2 p.m. Sunday: 2SL, 7B, 8, — Jack Nicklaus heads into this year's Masters Golf Tournament with a slight edge in the odds over Doug Sanders, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player. If Nicklaus does come through with the predicted victory, it will be the first time anyone has won two Masters in a row. Nicklaus and Palmer are the only two golfers on the top odds chart that have won twice. Nicklaus in 1963 and 1965 and Palmer in 1962 and 1964. Sanders is considered to be Nicklaus' biggest threat after winning three tourneys so far on the present tour. All in all, it is expected to be a battle-to-the-wire between some 10 golfers.

ABC Summer TV Schedule Is Announced

ABC-TV's summertime schedule, which includes several program changes, was announced today by Lea Goldberg, ABC vice president in charge of TV network programming.

On July 18 "The Big Valley" will shift from Wednesdays at 9 p.m., PDT to the 10-11 p.m. Monday time period. The series' last Wednesday telecast will be July 13.

"These summer program changes are included to provide a wider range of viewing for our audiences," Goldberg said. "Bringing 'The Big Valley' into its fall time period months ahead, will make it available to even greater audiences. It will enable more people to become acquainted with the show and establish new Monday night viewing habits that we hope will carry over into the fall."

On July 20, the network begins a special summer motion picture series from 9 to 11 p.m. featuring popular films which received their TV debuts this season on ABC-TV's "Sunday Night Movie."

Goldberg also revealed that ABC-TV's new series, "The Avengers," will be seen Thursdays at 10 p.m. starting July 21. Its final Monday broadcast will be on July 11 from 10 to 11 p.m. Two series, "The Long, Hot Summer" and "The Baron," will have their concluding airings on ABC-TV July 13 and 14, respectively.

Dodgers Stars Plan Appearance

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, golden-nugget hurlers for the Los Angeles Dodgers who resigned with the world champion club after a dramatic hold-out, will be attractions on ABC-TV's "The Hollywood Palace" colorcast Saturday, April 9 (9:30-10:30 p.m., PST).

The dynamic duo canceled a projected appearance in a Paramount movie, but will make their debut as a TV entertainment team on the "Palace" hosted by Gene Barry.

As previously announced, Barry's guests will include comedians Wally Cox and Tim Conway, the singing McGuire Sisters, novelty singers the Mama's and the Papa's, the Lenz Chimps and the Hildalys, trick cyclists.

"The Hollywood Palace" is produced by William O. Harbach and directed by Grey Lockwood. Nick Vanoff is executive producer and Mitchell Ayres is music director.

Champion Green Bay and Colts Clash Sept. 10 To Usher in NFL Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay's champion Packers and the Baltimore Colts will clash on Sept. 10, opening the expanded National Football League's expanded 1966 schedule announced Monday. The Saturday night game at Milwaukee kicks off the 47th season for the NFL, which goes from 14 teams to 15 with the addition of Atlanta's Falcons, lengthens its schedule from 14 weeks to 15, and increases its number of games from 98 to 105. The regular season ends Dec. 18, with the title playoff set for Jan. 1 at the Eastern champion's park.

Pete Rozelle, the league's commissioner, predicts the added team and the new stadium in St. Louis will boost NFL attendance past the 5-million mark. A record 4,364,021 paid to see NFL games last year.

Wagner Foresees Mays as Manager

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland slugger Leon Wagner, anticipating the day when members of his Negro race manage major league baseball teams, says, "I'd like to see Willie Mays become a manager. 'I think he'd make a good manager... no college degree but sharp on the field and off the field. Ernie Banks would make a good manager, too."

"I know Mays: he'd have a go-go team. Banks would have a team with a lot of strong stick men. He admires guys like Billy Williams who hit with power."

No Negro ever has managed in the majors. Wagner believes the time has arrived when they should. Both Mays, the field captain of the San Francisco Giants, and Banks, the Chicago Cubs each have twice been named the National League's Most Valuable Player.

"An owner who would make one of these guys a manager after they're through playing would be doing a lot for the game," says Wagner, who broke into major league baseball with the Giants in 1958.

"A lot of managers get knowledge just through playing. Mays has just as much knowledge as half the managers in the game today. He may not know the rule book as well as some, but some managers who know the rule book don't get along so well on the field."

Wagner believes that baseball in its present level would readily accept a Negro manager.

"Mays or Banks have been respected as players a long time. They'd get respect as managers. The first year they might get a lot of pressure, then it would ease out."

Now an established major leaguer with a $35,000 annual salary, Wagner recalls his rookie year and the help from Mays.

"He showed me how to charge ground balls and get the jump on flies. It was tough for me to see the flies on bright days. He told me to stay low to the ground and pick up the ball as it left the bat."

"I've been doing it ever since. He showed me how he backs up for a fly. I couldn't do that his way and had to adopt my own style."

Luck of Draw Gives Pair Doubles Lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Because of the luck of the draw, Tony Loicano and Bob Kwiecien of Detroit became the regular doubles leaders Sunday of the 63rd American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Loicano and Kwiecien, who combined for a 1,351 total, had never bowled as doubles partners until Sunday. They were paired up after their team captain, Tom McKay, drew their names from a hat just before the round.

Kwiecien, a former professional, who recently regained his amateur status, led the assault with 693. Loicano, who finished fifth in the ABC regular all-events last year, chipped in with 658.

Frank Kawahara and Bob Hafen of Pittsburgh, and Dick Viles and Larry Angott of Pontiac, Mich., who had been deadlocked for the lead since March 28, with 1,308 dropped to second place.

In the only other important change of the tournament's 16th day, Champion Brunswick of Youngstown, Ohio, rolled a 2,980 series to claim third place in the regular team division.

Hurt Race Driver Remains Critical

ORLEANS, France (AP)—Race driver Walt Hansen, injured when his Ford Mark II crashed during practice for the 24-hour Le Mans race, remained in critical condition Monday Night.

A spokesman at the U.S. military hospital, where the 46-year-old Bedminster, N.J., driver was taken after his accident Saturday, said Hansen "was holding his own, but is still on the critical list."

Mets Win in Drawing to Sign Player

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Through a decision by Commissioner William D. Eckert, the New York Mets have won the right to sign a college player whose signing for a $40,000 bonus by Richmond of the International League had been ruled illegal.

The Mets won out over Cleveland and Philadelphia in a special drawing held by Eckert to determine what team should get the rights to George Seaver, a 21-year-old pitcher from the University of Southern California.

Seaver was selected in the high school and college draft by the Atlanta Braves and was signed by Richmond, a Braves farm team.

But Eckert nullified the contract and fined Richmond $500 because USC already had started its season. Baseball rules say a player cannot be signed off a college campus once his team has started playing.

Since he had not received any money, Seaver asked that he be allowed to play for his school this year. But college authorities declared him ineligible.

So Eckert took steps to enable the youngster to sign with another team, ruling that no organization would be eligible to participate in the selection unless it was willing to match the terms of the Richmond contract.

The Mets, the Phillies and the Indians put in bids for Seaver.

Skindivers Find Coins From Wreck

LOUISBURG, N.S. (AP)—Three amateur skindivers say they have recovered about $700,000 worth of old gold and silver coins from the wreck of a French pay ship that sank off Cape Breton Island in 1725.

Alex Storm, 29, said he and two companions recovered the treasure last fall from the wreck of the ship Le Chameau. The Camel—after a three-year search that included perusal of archives in Paris.

The Chameau went down with all hands Aug. 26, 1725, off the French fortress of Louisbourg on eastern Cape Breton Island. She carried pay for the garrison at Louisbourg, one of the strongest French bases in North America.

Storm, a surveyor for the government's Northern Affairs Department, said he and his companions brought the coins up from the wreckage 70 feet under water and carried them in sacks to a local bank. They kept their find secret while coin experts in New York, London and Paris assessed its value from samples.

NHL Board To Give Sixth Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League's Board of Governors gathers here Tuesday to finalize expansion plans by awarding its sixth new franchise.

Two groups are bidding for the franchise, tentatively awarded to St. Louis.

One group, composed primarily of St. Louisans, is headed by Sid Salmons Jr., who has purchased the St. Louis Arena conditionally. The transaction will be completed if Salmons' group gets the franchise.

Last week another syndicate, headed by Carl Berst of Chicago, entered its bid for the St. Louis franchise. Forty per cent of the Berst group's backers are St. Louisans.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said that if neither group's presentation proves satisfactory to the board, the sixth new franchise will be awarded to Baltimore.

Last month new franchises were awarded to groups in Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

All six are to be operative in the 1967-68 season.

The league currently is composed of teams in Montreal, Toronto, New York, Chicago, Detroit and Boston.

Swim Star Files $56,000 Damage Suit

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Dawn Fraser, a former world champion swimmer, issued a writ Monday claiming $56,000 damages against William Burge Phillips, secretary of the Australian Amateur Swimming Union.

The writ was issued out of the New South Wales Supreme Court. Cause of the action was not disclosed.

Miss Fraser, now Mrs. Gary Ware, won gold medals in three Olympics and broke 36 world records during her amateur swimming career.

That career was halted March 2, 1965, when the Australian Amateur Swimming Union handed her a 10-year suspension, which, in effect, made her ineligible for any major amateur swimming competition in the world.

Two other girls, also members of Australia's 1964 Olympic swimming team, received lesser penalties. Dr. Donald Bowling, president of the Swimming Union, said at the time that the reasons for the suspensions would never be made public.

Miss Fraser and the other girls said later, the action could have arisen because of their refusal to wear the official team uniform in the Tokyo Games.

Three Sun Valley Skiers Do Well

Three skiers from the Sun Valley junior ski team placed high in the standings during a giant slalom race at Logan over the weekend.

Scott Fenwick of Ketchum placed fourth in the expert B class and Robert Riggen of Hailey came in one place back.

Bill Shaw, 12, took fifth place in the intermediate division.

Coach William Shaw, who has gone with the intermediate and novice skiers to various events through the skiing season, says he has traveled some 4,600 miles in this pursuit.

Shaw also noted that this is the last race the ski team will compete in this season.

MAKING THE BIG BAT BIGGER, the camera angle on this shot displays how Minnesota's Tony Oliva and his mighty bat must look to some American League pitchers. Oliva accomplished the spectacular and rare feat of leading the league in batting in his first two seasons as a major league player, with .323 in 1964 and .321 in 1965. (AP wirephoto)

Tornadoes Hamper Florida Baseball Games

By The Associated Press
Ten wind-driven home runs, three by Roger Repoz of the New York Yankees, cleared the fences in the only two Florida games played Monday as tornadoes whipped through the mid-section of the Sunshine State.

The Yankees nipped the Cincinnati Reds 10-9. Lou Clinton's two-run single capping a ninth-inning rally, and two homers by Curt Blefary led the Baltimore Orioles past the Washington Senators 8-4 in the only Florida game.

Two Chicago Cubs pitchers blanked the California Angels 4-0 at Las Vegas, Nev., and the Cleveland Indians whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2 at Mesa, Ariz.

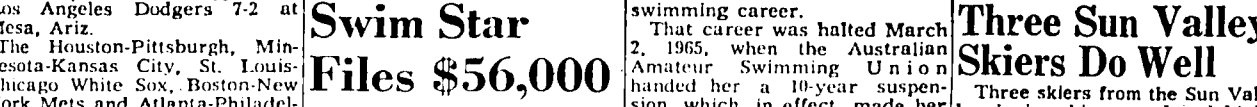

The Houston-Pittsburgh, Minnesota-Kansas City, St. Louis-Chicago White Sox, Boston-New York Mets and Atlanta-Philadelphia games were victims of the Florida storm.

Gordie Coleman and John Edwards homered for Cincinnati, which led the Yankees 9-7 going into the last of the ninth despite Repoz's three blasts.

Clete Boyer's pinch double, Ruben Amaro's single and Horacio Clarke's double produced one New York run and after an intentional walk to Roy White, Clinton singled home the tying and winning runs.

Blefary's two homers and one by Boog Powell paced the Orioles, offsetting Washington home runs by Willie Kirkland and Bob Chance.

Spring Perils Claim Number Of Pheasants

BOISE — The Idaho Fish and Game Department noted Tuesday that the perils of springtime are among the worst hazards for ringnecked pheasants.

Death comes to these popular game birds mostly during the fat months of easy living from April through October.

Pheasant losses during April and May are often higher than during an average Idaho winter.

It happens this way, according to Elwood Blzeau, state bird supervisor, because the spring months are a time of movement for pheasants on the range. In scattering to breeding and nesting areas, the hardy birds expose themselves to road traffic hazards much more than during the wintertime.

Regardless of pheasant losses during the summer, fall and winter, Idaho usually has on hand about a half-million birds at this time of year. Two-thirds of them are hens. The ratio of hens to roosters year after year always checks out at about 2-1. By the end of the production season, there may be close to two million birds on Idaho's 34,000 farms.

Losses from all causes, especially to young birds just out of the egg, are staggering.

Linfield Drops Coyotes Twice

CALDWELL (AP)—Oregon's Linfield College scored three runs in the seventh inning to beat the College of Idaho 4-2 Monday and then went on to win the second game of a double-header 7-5.

John Lee's deep fly to left field led the rally of singles in the first game's seventh inning to give Linfield the win.

In the second game, Linfield scored four runs in the opening inning and went on to win the game.

The College of Idaho's Dave Barton led his team's efforts in the second game with three singles in four trips to the plate.

Big Three Favored in Masters, but Sanders Thinks He Can Win It

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"I think I can win it—if this old putting blade stays hot," Doug Sanders said Monday after checking into Augusta National for the 30th Masters Golf Tournament. The 32-year-old Beau Brummell from Ojai, Calif., winner of two tournaments in a row and three for the season, stole the attention from the favored Big Three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—as the game's best players began gathering for the event which starts Thursday.

Texas Relays Marks Draw Loud Silence

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Relays not only have come of age but the fans are becoming jaded. When a 7-foot high jump, a 65-foot, 4 1/2-inch shot put and a 4:03.9 mile drew little more than yawns, it should mean that a track and field meet has reached the acme or something. That's what happened in the Texas Relays over the weekend.

One reason was that 7-foot high jumps have become commonplace, and John Hartfield of Texas Southern drew only a ripple of applause when he made that height although the Texas Relays never had it before.

Anybody except Randy Matson would have created something of a sensation with 65 feet in the shot but the Texas A and M star had made that distance seem like a warmup. It was more than five feet under his world's record of 70-7 1/4.

Jim Ryun, the Kansas freshman, held the American record of 3:55.3 in the mile and he was brought in specifically to give the Texas Relays a four-minute mile. The record was 4:00.5.

Ryun ran the race like he was only out there to win and his 4:03.9 brought expressions of disappointment. In fact, Charles Christmas of Abilene Christian already had produced a 4:01.2 mile in anchoring the distance medley to a relays record of 9:36.5.

Anyway, it was the greatest of Texas Relays, bringing 17 records, one of them a new collegiate standard in the sprint medley as Southern University ran it in 3:16.5.

Southern dominated the meet although running in the college division. It won five relays and set records in all.

Kansas ran the fastest four-miles in Big Eight Conference history, shattering the Texas Relays record by 15.1 seconds with 16:40.2.

Sanders Leads PGA Lout List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Victory in the Greensboro Open Sunday after his Jacksonville triumph vaulted Doug Sanders to the top among money winners in the Professional Golfers' Association standings.

Sanders has won $41,241 in official tournaments, $19,717 in unofficial for a total of $60,958.

Lionel Hebert is in second place with $30,408 in official winnings, $275 in unofficial for a total of $30,683.

Harter Is New Penn Cage Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dick Harter was named basketball coach at the University of Pennsylvania Monday.

Harter, who went to Rider College a year ago, had served seven years as Penn's freshman basketball coach. His Rider team had a 16-9 record.

Harter, 35, succeeded Jack McCloskey, who led Penn to an Ivy League crown before resigning to take the Wake Forest coaching job.

Deer and Elk Salt Program Is Terminated

BOISE (AP)—Elk and deer like salt in their diet—but they can take it or leave it alone the Idaho Fish and Game Department has learned.

The department hoped to induce big game to use summer range longer and winter range less by treating the animals to planted salt according to Department Director John R. Woodworth.

But Woodworth said it didn't work—no significant difference was detected in big game movements when an area was salted and when it was not. The experiment has been discontinued after four years.

The program showed wild animals unlike domestic animals do not need supplementary salt, Woodworth said. He said they apparently get all the minerals they need from the natural diet.

Greenboro, N.C. (AP)—R. H. Sikes and Phil Rodgers won places in the Masters with their play in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Two places are given to those with the most points on the PGA winter tour. Tom Weiskopf came to Greensboro with 55 points, and picked up 24 more for runner-up, but it was not enough.

Sikes, placing in a tie for sixth place, got 19 points for a winter's total of 116.

Rodgers closed with a 67 Sunday to tie for 15th spot, worth eight points, giving him 96.

George Archer and Joe Campbell, his closest rivals, tied for 30th.

REXBURG — No changes were noted over the weekend in the top five in each event of the Idaho State Men's Bowling Tournament, making this the third weekend in a row with the same leaders.

Bill Gremmels of Idaho Falls paces the singles, Jim Tyler and Emery Bryant of Boise lead the Doubles and Bert's Marina of Idaho Falls remains in charge of the teams event.

Jack Hiatt of Idaho Falls is scratch all-events leader and Lynn Richards of Lava Hot Springs is top man in all-events handicap.

Rookie Racer Dies at Age 41

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jimmy Daywalt, who drove in eight 500-mile races at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, died of cancer in Veterans Hospital Monday. He was 41.

NCAA-AAU Mediation Panel Meets

NEW YORK (AP)—A mediation panel appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to settle the long and deep-rooted dispute between the AAU and NCAA ended a two-day meeting Monday on a note of optimism.

"I hope that we're coming down the homestretch," said Theodore Kheel, head of the five-man mediation panel.

But just when a solution to the power struggle between the two giant governing bodies of U.S. amateur athletics will be reached was still a matter of conjecture.

The panel will meet again in New York May 2-3 and possibly May 4, Kheel said.

"Our aim is to get an agreement between the parties," he said. "We will make an arbitration award only if necessary."

While the mediation or arbitration is going on there is a

Braves Purchase Reds Outfielder

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds sold outfielder Marty Keough Monday to the Atlanta Braves for an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named later.

Keough, 31, used largely as a utility outfielder and pinch hitter, was obtained by the Reds in 1962 in a trade with the Washington Senators. His most frequent play was in 1962 when he batted .278 in 111 games. Last year, he hit only .116 in 43 games.

moratorium in effect.

This means that National Collegiate Athletic Association members can participate in Amateur Athletic Union events without penalty and vice versa.

The government stepped into the dispute and appointed the panel under a resolution by the Senate when concern began mounting that the power struggle would jeopardize U.S. Olympic efforts.

Today's Market and Financial Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally barreled ahead for the fourth straight session with trading heavy early this afternoon.

The market's climb aboard a market bandwagon which seemed to be in the midst of a traditional Spring rally after weeks of decline and later consolidation.

The ticker tape on the New York Stock Exchange ran as much as seven minutes late in the morning and was still lagging in the afternoon.

Many issues were delayed in opening due to an accumulation of buy orders.

The start of first quarter earnings reports, many of them either records or sharply higher, was one factor in the rise.

Another was the successful penetration of the March 22 rally peaks. Still a third was the resurgence of American Telephone and other blue chips whose lagging performance earlier this year seemed an advertisement of market weakness.

Steels, motors, rails, oils, airlines, aerospace issues, tobacco and chemicals were among the gainers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.7 at 348.3 with industrials up 2.7, rails up 1.5 and utilities up .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .545 at 943.31.

AT and T opened on a block of 30,000 shares and pushed its gain to nearly a point as it continued to roll up a big recovery from a series of four-year lows.

With the rail strike settled, New York Central rose more than 2. Pennsylvania Railroad almost 2 and Chesapeake and Ohio about 1 1/2.

Anacosta gained 2. IBM 3. United Air Lines 5. Boeing 4. Xerox 2.

Among delayed openers, substantial gains were scored by Beech Aircraft, Fairchild Hiller, Oxford Paper and Dynamic Corp. of America.

As the session wore on other big blocks were traded, Macy's was unchanged at 47 on a block of 50,000 shares. Burlington gained 1/4 at 46 on 25,000 shares.

Collins Radio sank 1/2 in profit taking. Other early gainers began to wilt but the list still remained substantially ahead despite profit taking by traders.

SCM Corp. rose about 2 1/2 in vigorous trading. Aero, Lear, Sealed Air and Fairchild Hiller were among very active fractional gainers.

First-hour volume was 3.12 million shares.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. The ticker tape ran 10 minutes late. Up about 3 were Valley Metallurgical and Berkley Photo. Gains of about 2 points were scored by Flying Tiger, Atlas Consolidated Mining, Ameco, TWA warrants and Moog Inc. Ahead a point or so were Mead Johnson, National Video, Syntron, Conduction, Elco and Fotochrome. Solitron Devices lost more than 2 and Old Town about 2.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds were unchanged to fractionally higher.

Mrs. Johnson Returns From Texas Tour

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson was home on her own LBJ Ranch today after four days of touring Texas, and she still had some beautification-conservation missions on schedule.

The first thing the traveling First Lady wanted to do was check up on the wild flowers she had planted around the ranch.

She'd seen plenty of wild, spectacular scenery in the Big Bend country of southwest Texas, and now she's quietly taking a look at her own home beautification efforts.

Mrs. Johnson flew to the ranch Monday afternoon with Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and George B. Hartog, Jr., director of the National Park Service, who went along on her Texas tour promoting one of the biggest of the nation's parks.

They were to join Mrs. Johnson and her daughter, Lynda, 22, in a tree planting in the President's home town here this afternoon.

16 Perish in Hong Kong Flood

HONG KONG (AP) — Flood waters and landslides after a night of torrential rain killed at least 16 persons today in this British crown colony.

The rampaging waters swept 10 workmen into a reservoir tunnel. Rescuers found all but one body. A mother and her three children were killed when their house was buried by tons of earth and rock.

Other landslides in Hong Kong's hillside squatter area took three more lives.

COMMUNION SET

BUHL — Holy communion services will be observed at a special Maundy Thursday service slated for 8 p.m. at the Buhl First Presbyterian Church, according to Rev. Dale Olson, pastor. The evening service also will offer a time of prayer and meditation.

Highliners 4-H Officers Elected

Susan Billington was elected president of the Highliners 4-H Club at their first meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Crane during the weekend.

Other officers elected at the meeting are Peter Turner, vice president; Aleta Taylor, secretary; Kenny Marshall, treasurer; Shirley Sommer, reporter; Sandy Sommer, Nancy Brooks, historians; Thomas Turner, sergeant-at-arms, and Deena Kinsey, game chairman.

Miss Billington said club members discussed upcoming projects and other plans for the coming year. Refreshments were served after the meeting.
